Questions 155-157 refer to the following e-mail.

To:	All Employees
From:	Mitch Grady
Date:	29 July
Subject:	Air-conditioning system

Hello, everyone:

I have some updates from the maintenance department about air conditioning on the top floor. The vents there need to be replaced, and we are experiencing delays in securing the necessary materials. The estimated repair date is 5 August, but we will keep you posted if there are any changes to this timeline.

In the meantime, maintenance has brought in fans and has been opening the windows at night to cool the floor. We have also purchased portable air conditioners for some of the meeting areas, However, offices on the top floor are likely to become uncomfortably warm in the afternoons, so we suggest that affected employees work remotely. if possible, or find space to work on the other floors. The air-conditioning system is working fine on the first four floors.

Thank you for your patience.

Mitch Grady
Director. Peevers Technology

To:	scheung@youmailonline.com
From:	customerservice@deskoplan.com
Date:	August 10
Subject:	RE: Order W10391

Dear Ms. Cheung,

I'm sorry that you were not satisfied with the standing desk you purchased from Deskoplan. Our goal is for every customer to be delighted with our products and service.

In answer to your inquiry, we absolutely are willing to receive the return of this item. Our standard approach would be to first send you a printable shipping label by e-mail. You would then put all the components of the desk back into its box, affix the shipping label to the outside of the box, and drop it off at a Ciska Shipping location near you. This way the return would be completed at absolutely no cost to you. Once we receive confirmation that the item is en route to us, we would credit your account for the amount you originally paid. Please let us know whether this solution will be satisfactory or if alternative arrangements may be needed.

Thank you,

Eliza Bartee
